Montreal to Hollywood is Objective of Two Men from East

Paul E. Bray and Henry Duckett Made 4153 Miles on Reach-Coleman on Tuesday

The Journal office enjoyed a visit on Tuesday afternoon from two stalwart young men who are on a walking tour from Montreal to Hollywood, Cal. They state that on completion of their journey they will have made 6610 miles.

Presenting a very fit appearance, in their natty dark blue uniforms, specially made high top walking boots and each carrying packs of 44 lbs. weight, and with small gold letters on their military caps with the words "Montreal to Hollywood," they created wide interest. The faithful police dog shown in the accompanying picture, faithful companion of the early stages of their long journey, was lost or stolen at Prescott, Ont., and no trace of him could be discovered.

Daily newspapers in every city visited give considerable space to recounting the experiences of these gentlemen adventurers, whose special mission in making the long journey by road is to gather information and create sentiment in favor of Canadian features in motion pictures and songs. In the cities they give short programs in the leading theatres. The endorsements of representative Canadian organizations, civic bodies and boards of trade, and prominent personages assembled in a loose leaf system

Coleman Choral Society

It has been decided to form a community choral society, the object being to prepare for the forthcoming musical festival at Blairmore. The first practice will be held in St. Alban's parish hall on Wed. Dec. 17 at 3 p.m. and those wishing to join will please be present. The chorus, "We Never Will Bow Down," from Handel's Julius Caesar is the chorus the choir will take.

which they carry and which constitutes a most interesting diary, in some parts thrilling, especially the account of their wanderings for eleven days between Fort William and Winnipeg, when they became lost and subsisted for some days on wild berries.

On their arrival at Hollywood motion picture producers will be interviewed and given a review of their experiences, which will form the basis of motion pictures depicting various phases of Canadian life, in which the glorious splendors of the Rocky Mountains will be featured.

After spending an hour here in interesting conversation and enjoying a rest, just as they were preparing at 4 p.m. to leave for Crow's Nest, which marks the summit of Crow's Nest Pass, a snow flurry began to blow. Off came the jaunty caps, and caps similar to those worn by aviators were extracted from the packs, with goggles to protect the eyes from wind and snow. "With a perfect good bye" and the anticipation that on the morrow they would commence their trek across British Columbia, they quickly fell into their stride, and as they marched off in the falling light of a December afternoon, watched by the children just leaving school and miners coming off work, the words of that famous old poem "Excelsior" came to mind; changed to suit the occasion:

"The shades of night were falling fast,
As through a Crow's Nest village passed;
Two lads who bore mid snow and ice,
Their knapsacks with the strange device,
—'Montreal to Hollywood.'"

There is a flavor of romance attached to such a journey, for one could imagine that here were two crusaders imbued with a desire to do their part in arousing Canadian national sentiment.

Echoes of Garden Hose Controversy—Decision Given

Mayor James Moore states that in the case of Dickson and Pryde, protest against paying the levy of $6.00 for hose service by Coleman Light & Water Co., Ltd., it was ruled by the Board of Utility Commissioners at a recent hearing in Calgary that they could not be compelled to pay for the hose service if it was shown they were not using it. The dispute arose over the fact that light service was discontinued to these customers on their refusal to pay the charge levied for hose.

The terms of the franchise gave the company power to levy a rate at $6.00 per season for garden hose, but for a number of years a charge of 25c a month was made from May to September inclusive. Last summer this was changed and the $6.00 rate was levied, later being rebated to $2.50.

Salvation Army Closes Hall

Major A. L. Steele, M. B. E., divisional commander of the Salvation Army in Alberta, was here this week and informed The Journal that Capt. Wm. Slous is being transferred to Lethbridge, and Lieut. Wiseman is at present in Vancouver, having gone to his home there owing to sickness, having since been operated on for appendicitis.

The hall here will remain closed and Capt. Slous will leave on Tuesday. He asked The Journal to thank the business men of Coleman for their support during his stay here the past five months. He states that supplies left on hand in the way of clothing for needy people he is turning over to Constable Houghton.

During his brief stay Major Steele visited Rev. A. E. Lark and made a pleasant call at The Journal.

Luck Favored These Deer Hunters at Gap

There may be something or nothing in a name, but McKeen Hunter and E. E. Linnville went out last week in company with Forest Ranger W. Antle, and had been out a very short time when at 400 yards range Mr. Linnville shot a handsome buck deer weighing 250 lbs. and which had 16 points on its antlers.

The head is being mounted as a trophy by A. Sapeta of Coleman. The deer was shot a mile or two from the ranger station at the Gap.

J. A. McLeod Heads Hockey Club 1930

Will Open Season With Dance on Friday, Dec. 19 to Raise Funds for Team

With Supt. J. A. McLeod as president, A. G. Bowling past president and chairman of committee for entertainment, Idris Haysem secretary, Frank G. Gisham, R. H. Shone, Frank Bingham and J. Clark as executive committee. Coleman Canadians are away to a good start for the season. Their only trouble is mild weather, causing a postponement of the opening games of the league schedule. Coleman and Pincher were to have played here on Friday, but a later date will be called.

Forfeits are being issued for a grand dance to be held on Friday of next week, and a heavy advance sale of tickets is anticipated, so everyone can help to give the club a good start by patronizing the dance or buying tickets.

Several of the players of last season will be in the line up and some promising recruits, including Bill Fraser, flashy centre player, and Bob Pattinson, will come forward from the Juniors to play in senior company.

Good hockey may be expected this winter with a four team league, composed of Pincher, Blairmore, Bellevue and Coleman. At present there has been no reorganization of the junior clubs, though it is expected that a meeting will be called.

Mr. Benedetto of Creston spent the week-end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F. Calli of the Palm Confectionery.

Coleman Players Gave Enjoyable Evening of One-Act Plays

New Departure by Local Company Was Received and People Were Well Pleased

Coleman Players program on Monday night in the K. P. hall was a departure from the usual three or four act play to which they had been accustomed, and instead three distinct one-act plays were presented in a very creditable manner, under the direction of Mr. Arthur E. Graham. The audience were treated to most pleasant surprise and were unanimous in expressing their delight.

The first entitled "Deceivers" was played by C. F. Creagan, Miss Olga Hole and A. S. McIntock, the plot of the play being just what the title indicates. All three proved deceivers, but difficulties were smoothed out at the finish.

The second, entitled "Dolly's Little Pills," was played by Mr. Sidney Short, Miss Edith Haysem and Maurice W. Cooke, and depicted a domestic scene in which the husband was engaged in a very trying task endeavoring to arrive at the total of the debt his wife had contracted for wearing apparel, millinery, hose and other feminine adornments. Mr. Cooke was the father of the lady, and was drawn into the unusual position of referee in the domestic jungle, war against his inclination.

The concluding play was "The Mayor and the Manicure," and proved the most amusing of the program. The cast included Miss Hilda Clifford, Miss Kathleen Milley, Major R. F. Barnes and Fred Guerard. Miss Clifford as Genevieve LeClair characterized the young woman adventurer in a typical manner, while Mr. Barnes as the hard-boiled practical politician played the part in his usual inimitable style. Genevieve, though robbed of the affections of Wallie, (Fred Guerard) was recompensed by receiving $1,000 for the love letters which Wallie had written her.

From an entertainment point of view the plays were splendid; from a financial viewpoint, it was disastrous. The total taken in was $37.50. Very little support was given by the townspeople, only a

Cool Heads and Clear Thinking

These are times that test men. In the present economic conflict raging throughout the world, men are being put to the test just as truly as they were during the stress and strife of the Great War. There is tragedy and suffering now as there was then. And because of the conditions men and women today are very apt to allow their usual habits of thought and action to slip their moorings and to indulge in unconsidered, reckless thought, speech and action which in their more sober moments they would not only refuse to countenance in themselves but would condemn in others.

It is well that people should give serious consideration and study to the existing situation, not merely as individuals as they themselves may be affected, but collectively as a community in the interest of the welfare of all. It is well that difficulties should be made known, that just grievances should be clearly stated, that suggested remedies should be outlined, discussed, and, in the light of all the circumstances, action taken. Therefore, the many meetings being held throughout the country are a gratifying sign of an aroused public interest in the public welfare, but only so if their object is constructive, that is, to find a way out of difficulties, to better conditions, and not destructive in character leading to only greater confusion of thought and still greater chaos.

Public discussion calls for clear leadership, thoughtful, sane and constructive. It is not the man who shouts the loudest, who berates everybody and everything, who calls for drastic action against this or that law or institution, who is the real friend of the country or of the people for whom he professes to be most sympathetic. This class of individual always comes to the front when men are discouraged and feeling in a more or less desperate mood. He does not attempt to appeal to their reason, but to their feelings and passions. He is not a true and safe leader, but a man bent on destruction and generally incapable of advancing any sound constructive policy that is likely to be productive of good.

Attempts by agitators of this type to sway the feelings and passions of people, in a word, to seek to capitalize upon the hardships which people may be temporarily undergoing, should not only be frowned down but by the reasoned men and women of this country, but these last backbones of any country, should not hesitate to speak out boldly in opposition to the unsound and unwise advice and actions of these trouble makers.

Newspapers contain reports of meetings in different parts of the country at which, despite the protests and opposition of the more intelligent and far-seeing people present, resolutions are adopted demanding the adoption of certain policies and the taking of certain lines of action which, if carried into effect, instead of bettering conditions would only serve to prolong existing difficulties and make them infinitely worse. Secession proposals, threats of boycotts, defiance of law and organized resistance to law officers, only add fire to flames already burning. They mean more, not less trouble and suffering. They contain no element of remedy.

In China, or in South American countries, revolution may still be the only method of successfully achieving reforms, and in the present world-wide depression, the expedient of revolution has been resorted to in these countries, but whether conditions will be bettered thereby, time alone will disclose. But in Canada, Great Britain, the United States, the people enjoy democratic political institutions which place the power of constitutional action right in their own hands. If present national, provincial or municipal policies are not sound and in the best interests of the masses, then the people themselves can right them. They may not be able to immediately correct all their economic difficulties, because in this world no one nation can govern its own economic conditions, much as it may strive to do so. But it can itself adopt those policies which it believes are best calculated to meet its difficulties, solve its problems, and advance the welfare of its people, not of one class or section alone, but the general interests of all.

It is to the evolution of such policies that the thought and energies of people should now be devoted; not in following blind leaders of the blind who would tear up and destroy on the vague promise that upon the wreckage so created they would build up something different, but in explanation of the exact nature of which they are so delightfully indefinite.

In conclusion, let it be repeated that these are times that test men. These are times that call for cool heads, clear-thinking; not for wild talk and a multitude of untied theories.

Pensions for the Blind

Saskatchewan Body Requests That Federal Government Be Asked To Take Action

To ask the provincial government to petition the Federal Government for pensions for the blind in Saskatchewan, a delegation of members of the advisory board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind met Premier Anderson at the parliament buildings, Regina, recently.

The delegation to the Saskatchewan Government is a result of the action taken by the Manitoba Government at its last session when they received a similar request for pensions for the blind in Manitoba from the Manitoba division of the institute.

The Saskatchewan delegation was composed of members of the advisory board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Saskatchewan, assisted by Captain Baker, general secretary for the institute in Canada, and Major E. Flexman, general manager of the central west division with headquarters in Winnipeg. The chairman of the delegation was Dr. P. C. Middleton, who is the chairman of the Saskatchewan advisory board.

Canada's 1930 Wheat Crop

Latest Official Report Places the Crop At 395,854,000 Bushels

The latest official report on the field crops of Canada estimates the 1930 wheat crop at 395,854,000 bushels or about 11,000,000 bushels more than the previous official estimate made last September. Of the 395,854,000 bushels produced for all Canada, 374,000,000 bushels were grown in the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year's wheat crop is about 91,000,000 bushels more than in 1929. Between 40 and 50 million bushels of wheat in the Prairie Provinces is still to be threshed.

The 1930 oat crop will total 429,156,000 bushels, an increase of over 146,000,000 bushels compared with the yield in 1929. Barley will return 127,943,000 bushels or about 25,000,000 bushels more than last year. The total production of rye is placed at 22,286,000 bushels, an increase of 9,000,000 bushels over 1929.

This year's average yield of wheat per acre in Canada was 15.9 bushels.

Demand For Homesteads

Many Inquiries Received For Information Regarding Vacant Lands In Northern Saskatchewan

Under the new provincial land regulations, 60 homesteads in northern Saskatchewan were purchased through the Prince Albert land office in November. Indicative of the widespread interest of prospective settlers, about 1,000 inquiries have been received as to what lands are vacant under the new scheme by which, unless more than one decade the same quarter, vacant Crown lands are sold for $1 to $3 an acre. Land has recently been taken up in various portions of the northern section of the province in the Hudson Bay junction, Meadow Lake, and Nipawin areas. Many of the new settlers are from the southern section of the province.

Demanding Federal Assistance

Ottawa Flooded With Suggestions For Relieving Distress In the West

Resolutions demanding federal assistance for western farmers are flooding into the capital daily, every mail bringing scores of declarations from Boards of Trade, farmers' locals and other bodies. The proposals in these resolutions vary greatly but agree in demanding a minimum price to be fixed for wheat by the Dominion.

Cabinet ministers, quite frankly, are amazed at the widespread dissatisfaction obtaining in the west and are at a loss to know what to do in the circumstances.

The resolutions, as a rule, ask for the following measures:

1—Abolition of the gold standard.
2—Payment by parliament of all outstanding debts of farmers, including grocery bills, chattel mortgages, overdue interest and 25 per cent. of all mortgages.

3—Fixing of the price of wheat at anywhere from 70 cents to $1 per bushel.

The Federal Government regards all these suggestions as entirely impracticable and unworkable and there is no intention of granting any relief to the west other than that afforded by the unemployment fund.

France and Disarmament

French Nation Would Seek For Security First

And, for the French of all orthodox schools of political thought, the precedence of security over disarmament is indisputable. They have in practice reduced armaments; but the theory that armaments should not be reduced until there is security for them as unshakable as the rock of Gibraltar. There are plenty of arguments to the contrary, but they do not convince the French. One can ask whether absolute security is meant—and in that case, as there is no such thing as absolute security, there is an end of disarmament. One can ask whether, if relative security is meant, with what degrees of relative security the French would be satisfied—and to that there is no answer. One can argue that disarmament is one of the conditions of security—but the French would only repeat that they would have security first—Sisley Huddleston in the New Statesman.

Paved Highway Across Canada

Predicted That It Will Be a Reality Within Ten Years

Canada's proposed Atlantic-Pacific highway was pictured as a paved thoroughfare of the future to delegates attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Convention Bureau at Winnipeg. Mayor Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg, disclosed that western mayors had been assured by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, with whom they conferred at Ottawa some time ago, that the Dominion government was prepared to participate in the completion of the highway on a fifty-fifty basis with the provinces.

Mr. Bennett had added at that time, said Mayor Webb, the prediction that within ten years the highway would be paved from the Maritimes to British Columbia.

United States Attorney-General Says Liquor Smuggling Drives From Canadian Border

Liquor smugglers have been driven from the Canadian border to the high seas by the Canadian Anti-Export Act, United States Attorney-General Mitchell discloses in his annual report issued at Washington.

The Canadian nation dealt a severe blow to border traffic when it amended its Export Act of May 30, 1930, and outlawed direct clearance of liquor from Canada to the United States," the report says:

"The natural result of this restrictive legislation was to drive some additional professional smugglers to the high seas, where their activities would be more likely to succeed. The French possession of St. Pierre, Miquelon, which for a number of years has been the chief rendezvous and supply point for the liquor-smuggling fraternity off our eastern coast, has experienced a substantial increase in this form of business."

"It is also noteworthy that 25 of the 29 foreign liquor ships seized during this year were British. Vessels of this nationality still preponderate in the trade, even though the chief smuggling base is French. Increased activity in Nova Scotia ports has been observed, because most of the vessels which operate in the smuggling trade out of St. Pierre are documented in Nova Scotia ports and are owned, at least ostensibly, by Canadian citizens."

"The hampering of the liquor smuggling traffic across the Canadian border has already been mentioned. This action on the part of Canada is real evidence of the desire of that nation to co-operate with us in the solution of our smuggling problem and is very highly appreciated."

Twenty-seven thousand seven hundred and nine persons went to jail for violation of the prohibition laws in 1930—5,017 more than in 1929 and 4,238 more cases were pending at the close of the year than at the close of the previous year.

"Enforcement of the National Prohibition Act," says the report, "showed improvement over 1929."

Doughborts Colony From Canada Reported To Be Negotiating With Mexican Authorities

A despatch from Mexico City says that Peter Verigin and Aaron Sapro, representatives of the Doughbort colony of Canada, conferred with the secretary of agriculture regarding the possibility of 10,000 to 20,000 Doughborts coming to Mexico if the government would help them to acquire land.

Verigin and Sapro received the support of the executive committee of the Canadian Confederation of Chambers of Commerce, and this group obtained the hearing before the secretary of agriculture.

It was said that if the Doughborts came to Mexico they probably would settle in the northern portion.

Mr. Champagne formerly sat in the House of Commons for North Battleford, but now devotes his entire time to private business. BRITISH COAL MINERS REJECT STRIKE PROPOSAL

London, England.—There will be no great national coal strike in Great Britain, for the time being at any rate. Delegates to the miners' conference here turned down a strike proposal by the narrow margin of 230,000 to 209,000. Their decision also implied there would be no strike ballot in the mining districts in question as previously seemed most likely.

Interest has now turned to the individual districts, above all to Scotland, where 85,000 miners are still out, and to South Wales, where the outcome of the negotiations going on between the owners and miners may well give a lead to the whole country.

In the South Wales fields probably the most important coal area in the country, the principal point at issue is the miners' demand that the 7½-hour working day, established by the new Coal Mines Act, be enforced. The owners have insisted that they be permitted to spread the 45 working-hours in a week through five eight-hour shifts and one five-hour shift.

Credit was being given to Premier Ramsay MacDonald for his part in averting a national walkout. He and other members of the cabinet, sitting with the delegates themselves, urged that every effort be made to reach a settlement with the owners and his counsel prevailed.

Viceroy Of India

Name Of Ramsay MacDonald Is Suggested For Office

London, England.—The Daily Mail says a suggestion has been seriously advanced that Premier Ramsay MacDonald become viceroy of India in succession to Lord Irwin, who will retire in April.

The Mail adds that the idea is a result of the good impression which Mr. MacDonald has made in conducting the Indian round table conference. It admits that such an appointment, which customarily is accompanied by a peerage, may appear fantastic, but says that the idea is more than mere rumor, and believes the appointment would satisfy the Indian people.

The question of Lord Irwin's successor is a favorite subject for speculation in political quarters just now. Lord Gorrell is most frequently mentioned.

Wasson and Walsh sighted the plane from the air ten days ago and three days later flew to within fifteen miles of the location, mushing the intervening distance on snowshoes.

Relief For Indians

Voting In Whitechapel Favors the Government Candidate

London, England.—James Hall, Labor party candidate, won the by-election for Whitechapel recently.

The results of the polling were, James Hall, Labor, 8,544; Barnett Jenner, Liberal, 7,445; T. E. B. Guinness, Conservative, 3,735; Pollitt, Communist, 2,108.

The victory represented a greatly reduced majority for Labor. Labor's vote of 8,544 out of the total of 21,830 compares with the 13,701 ballot cast for the party, out of 21,839, in 1929.

Whitechapel, comprising, for the most part, one of the so-called poor sections of London, had returned Labor candidates in 1923, 1925 and 1929, and each time with a large majority. The majority of Harry Gosling, Labor nominee, in the general election of 1929 was 9,180, one of the largest in the kingdom. The vote this time was: Gosling, 13,701; Sedgewick, Liberal, 4,521, and T. E. B. Guinness, Conservative, 3,417.

HEAVY GRAIN CARRY-OVER HAS BEEN DISPOSED OF

Port Arthur, Ont.—The statistical situation as far as Canada's wheat crop is concerned is in a good condition, according to E. B. Ramsay, chief grain commissioner for Canada, who arrived in Port Arthur. "We have a high quality crop to sell and the movement has been fairly free," he said, explaining that between 5,000,000 and 7,000,000 bushels were being shipped to Europe every week.

The heavy carry-over of approximately 100,000,000 bushels of last year has been disposed of. Mr. Ramsay explained, and if the present shipments to Europe can be kept up to the end of the season, the carry-over for next year will be back to normal. There was every likelihood that this would be the case, depending to some extent on the quality of the Argentine wheat, which will come on the market in February.

Dumping of Russian wheat on the British market had its effect, Mr. Ramsay stated, but he pointed out that the Russian surplus had been exhausted and the situation from now on would not likely be disturbed by anything the Russians could do.

Although pointing out that his department had nothing to do with the marketing of the grain crop, Mr. Ramsay said "I feel sure we are at the bottom of it now. No one can really tell what is going to happen, but I believe there will be a gradual change for the better."

Assembly Completes Work

Disarmament Commission Asks League To Set Date For Geneva Conference

Geneva, Switzerland.—Completing its task of drafting a general disarmament scheme for consideration by a world conference the preparatory commission invited the council of the League of Nations to set a date for this momentous assembly of statesmen.

The commission rejected an effort by Germany to have the commission recommend the specific date of November 5, 1931, for convening the general conference.

Canada laid a fight to delete from the article military planes and personnel used in civil work, such as patrolling forests and carrying aid to distressed citizens in remote places. The Canadian plan was supported by the United States and it is understood some arrangement will be reached at the general conference to meet the wishes of both countries.

Britain Protests Radio Speech From Russia

Regarded As Direct Violation Of Anti-Propaganda Agreement

London, England.—The British government will send a formal protest to Moscow against a radio speech broadcast by the Soviet capital, Mr. Hon. Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, informed the House of Commons.

The speech, he said, is regarded as "inciting British workers to revolution," and was in direct violation of the anti-propaganda agreement.

Fire Threatens Northern Town

The Pas, Man.—The settlement of Gillam, more than half-way on the Hudson Bay Railway from The Pas, was threatened by fire, according to word reaching here. A restaurant, a pool room and a general store were wrecked by the blaze before it was controlled. Damage totalled $6,000.

Trans-Canada Drivers Make Slow Progress

Finding Trip In Motor Car Is Hard Work

Hearst, Ont.—Pushing doggedly forward through northern Ontario bush country in 10-below-zero weather, Healy Needham and Gus McManis climaxed three weeks of discouraging reverses in their attempt to be the first to cross Canada by motor car, when they arrived on December 2 at Gauthier's trading post at Tagu River, 90 miles west of here.

Word that in the past week they had covered 70 miles of trackless spruce swamp country was received here. Both men and their roadster are in good condition.

RAMSAY OPPOSES PLAN TO REDUCE WHEAT AREAS

Port Arthur, Ont.—E. B. Ramsay, chief commissioner of the Board of Grain Commissioners of Canada, addressing the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting here, said he was not in sympathy with suggestions for a cutting-down of wheat areas of crops in Western Canada, principally because the whole transportation system of Canada depended on the amount of grain moved.

He preferred to rely on greater yield capacity quality and transportation facilities as advantages required by Canadian wheat to capture world markets. Mr. Ramsay also took occasion to say that he did not place too much reliance in resolutions that came from so many sources, declaring that they often went through merely because there was no one ready to oppose them.

He intimated he preferred a personal study of and contact with actual conditions by the board, actuated with a desire to administer the Canada Grain Act in the public interest.

He pointed out the Canadian grain crop was moving freely. There had been no embargoes, he said, and he predicted none; and he believed that by July next things would be pretty well cleared up. The worst had been passed, he thought.

It was his opinion Port Arthur and Fort William would not suffer unduly from the competition of the Hudson Bay route. Replying to a suggestion of Mayor Gibson that the head offices of the Board of Grain Commissioners should be in Port Arthur, Mr. Ramsay said that if his personal opinion had governed in the matter, they would not be in Winnipeg.

Constitution For India

Plan Is Gradually Taking Shape At Round Table Conference

London, England.—In rough outline, a federal constitution for India is gradually appearing in the discussions of the round table conference. It is emphasized in authoritative quarters that no decisions have been reached as yet. The scheme appears only in skeleton form. Everything still is in the tentative stage.

But discussion in the conference, sitting as a federal relations committee, is turning on these subjects as coming within the domain of India's proposed new federal authority:

1. Shipping, navigation, and navigation services.
2. Salt.
3. Currency and coinage.
4. Trade, commerce and banking.
5. Control of opium cultivation.
6. Control of petroleum and explosives.
7. Geological survey.
8. Invention, designs and copyright.
9. Migration from and into India, and interprovincial migration.
10. Traffic in arms and ammunition.
11. Survey, meteorological services, census and statistics.
12. Immovable property in the possession of the government of India.
13. Federal public services.

Indian princes, rulers of their own states, and representatives of British India alike agree that all the above are matters of common concern. It is the policy of the conference, therefore, in plotting out the new federal authority, to consider them first.

Consideration of four other vital subjects has been deferred. These are: First, defence of India and all matters connected with the army and navy, including naval and military works and cantonments; second, external affairs, including the naturalization of aliens, and pilgrimages beyond India; third, relations with the states in India; and, fourth, political changes.

Start Lengthy Flight

British Aviators Attempting Record Trip To Capetown

Croydon, England.—Miss Winnifred Spooner, 23, and Flying Officer E. C. T. Edwards, started December 3, on a 10,300-mile air journey to Capetown in their blue and silver monoplane. They will attempt to break the nine-day flight record to the South African city.

The aviators intend to fly by day and by night, taking alternate turns at the controls, and will carry a Miss Spooner has been flying for three years. Early in 1930 she completed a flight from South Africa to Croydon.

She is a sister of Captain Tony Spooner, former Royal Air Force pilot and now flying instructor of the Montreal Light Aeroplane Club.

Constitutes a Precedent

Australia First Dominion To Have Native-Born Governor-General

London, England.—A native-born Australian will succeed Lord Stonehaven, the present governor-general of Australia, in the person of Sir Isaac Isaacs, chief justice of the Commonwealth, according to announcement made.

Sir Isaac Isaacs will take up his duties when Lord Stonehaven's term expires at the beginning of the new year.

The announcement of his appointment, made by the Imperial Government, on behalf of His Majesty, constitutes a precedent in Empire annals. The new governor-general will be the first native born citizen of his country to represent the King in any of the Dominions.

While Sir Isaac is in fact the first native-born governor-general of any of the older self-governing dominions, he is not the first in the Empire. Both the governor-general who have served in the Irish Free State since its inception have been of Irish citizenship. Timothy Healy (1922-1928), came from Bantry, and James McNeill, present governor-general, is a native of County Antrim.

Flour Price Probe

Department Will Have Co-Operation Of Large Milling Companies

Ottawa, Ont.—Further inquiry into flour prices in Canada will be made by the Department of Labor, and in this inquiry the department has been offered the full co-operation of the great Canadian milling companies. Announcement of the continued investigation was made by Senator C. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, at the conclusion of a two-hour conference with representatives of seven large Canadian milling companies of the Dominion.

"It is probable that a report summarizing the results of the labor department's inquiry by registrar into bread prices will be completed in the not distant future," said Senator Robertson, "and the offer to furnish all desired information, volunteered by the millers, will be accepted. The flour inquiry will be pursued further as rapidly as possible, it being obvious that many factors enter into the matter which must be the subject of inquiry and consideration before a definite departmental decision can be made as to whether or not an inquiry by commissioner will be necessary in the public interest."

HERMAN TRELLE AGAIN WINS THE WHEAT TITLE

Chicago.—Canada's fame as the finest wheat producing country in the world was again maintained when Herman Trelle, the modest agriculturist of Wembley, Alberta, in the northern Peace River district, was once again crowned "wheat king" at the Chicago International Hay and Grain Exposition.

Repeating his success of 1926 when he brought the Peace River area to world attention as a premier agricultural producing district, Trelle, who four years ago won the title of world's oats king as well as the wheat crown, has again marked his victory with an exhibit of hard red spring grain.

It was a double victory for Canada, however, as George Avery, of Kelso, Sask., in the heart of the prairie grain growing belt, was declared the reserve champion. He exhibited sample of Durum, while, to the surprise of eminent grain authorities in attendance at the International, beat out the champion hard red winter samples, the best in their class, of C. Elson Smith, a former "wheat king" of Corvallis, Mont.

The Canadians were recipients of congratulations from all parts of the continent, and especially from western Canada and the home provinces of the winners.

Trelle's championship was the sixth for Canada in the 12 years of the International show. The other six times, it has gone to growers from Montana, the veteran C. Elson Smith being the only other Canadian twice-crowned king of the wheat lands. It was also the first time that a soft Durum variety, as entered by Avery, had won a major award, the reserve championship.

Featured by perfect uniformity and balanced content, the exhibit of the newly crowned monarch of wheat weighed 67.5 pounds per bushel, a record weight. The reserve championship grain weighed 61.1 pounds to the bushel, and also was of perfect uniformity. Trelle considered his winning samples the best he has ever exhibited.

BRACKEN TALKS ON TROUBLES OF WHEAT GROWERS

Winnipeg, Man.—Over-production of wheat, rising out of high prices during post-war years was blamed by Premier John Bracken for present troubles of prairie farmers. Mr. Bracken spoke before the delegates to the annual meeting of the United Manitoba municipalities gathered at a banquet given in their honor by the Provincial Government.

"Who is to blame," Mr. Bracken asked, "for encouraging cultivation of 13,000,000 more acres since the war, and the production of seven times more wheat than we can consume? The farmer should not be called on to bear the burden. There are some who say that proposals to stabilize the price of wheat are unsound—but they are better than having to adopt the living conditions of the self-agriculturists of Russia."

Cause of present difficulties lay in high prices for wheat in the years following the war in bringing in their train nearly 40,000,000 additional acres of wheat lands throughout the world and resultant depressed prices, the premier asserted. Only calm investigation of the causes of depression, adoption of new methods, efficiency in production, and trade arrangements with importing countries to insure markets could improve conditions, he believed.

Mr. Bracken recommended to delegates that they call on the Dominion Government to implement its promise to assume payment of old-age pensions. When the Dominion did that, he said, the province would further relieve the municipalities of the health levy.

Wheat Quota System

Plan Is Favorably Received By Canadian Grain Exporters

Ottawa, Ont.—Proposals for a quota system in Great Britain for wheat grown in the Empire have apparently been favorably received by Canadian grain exporters. Commenting on the statement made in the British House of Commons by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for the Dominions, that study was being given to such a scheme, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said that such a quota system had been evident in this country.

Proposals for quotas were considered by the committee on economic co-operation at the Imperial Conference, Mr. Stevens said. The committee had concluded that quota systems were feasible, but the minister laid emphasis on the fact that institution of quotas was a matter for legislation by the British government only.

"Another matter that should be made clear," Mr. Stevens said, "is that fixed prices would not be involved, but a quota would merely provide Canadian wheat a sheltered market in Britain."

Asked what protection of Canadian grain might be expected to be provided for under quota, the minister gave the opinion that 25 to 35 per cent. of Canada's exportable surplus would be involved. The world market for wheat would be require Canadian exporters to be responsible for the storage of grain overseas, Mr. Stevens said.

Eckener Gives Opinion

Zeppelin Expert Is Heard At Court Of Inquiry Into Dirigible

Disaster

London, England.—Dr. Hugo Eckener drew upon his knowledge as the world-famous Zeppelin expert, to reconstruct the loss of the British dirigible R-101 for the court of inquiry investigating that disaster.

He said it was undoubtedly leakage in the gas containers which sent the ship into a dive against a hill in France, and it was probably a break in an electrical circuit which set the craft afire.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"Life is real; life is earnest,"—writes one famous sage. "Life is but a huge joke and a riddle," writes another. Both descriptions are correct; choose whichever definition suits your viewpoint. Ours at present is the latter. Present-day conditions compel us to admit this. Why? Here's the answer! For a lifetime people will live honorably, they will toil and raise families, and finally pass away to the realms which faith in the hereafter makes us anticipate as a blessed haven of rest. Their earthly rewards may have been nil measured in the terms of worldly wealth, and the disappointments of life, in which there may have been the occasional bright spot, are relieved by the thought of the life hereafter being one of eternal freedom from these every-day cares. It may be that an all-wise Divine influence has implanted this thought in man's mind to enable him to continue the earthly battle. Otherwise the majority would express the thought—"What's the use of anything?" and the answer would be, "Nothing!"

World conditions cause people to think very deeply for the causes of the economic ills we are experiencing. There is but one conclusion we arrive at—they are of man's own making. Collectively we all must suffer, and we all must endeavor to find a remedy by our individual thought and action. Life has many artificialities which though appearing to bring happiness, very often have the reverse effect.

With all our advantages of science and invention, our much lauded culture and refinement, are we as a people really happier than the tribes in central Africa or other remote regions? We live on a higher plane, 'tis true, according to civilized standards; yet the heathen's moral and ethical code is just as honorable, perhaps even more so, than that of civilized nations.

The late war is an example of the savage instinct of civilized nations, and shows in reality that it remains.

Possibly the present period of economic depression will have a very beneficial effect in bringing to our minds a surer perspective of life in general. It may cause us to ponder, to try and discover the real meaning of life, and teach us that it cannot be happy until we learn to live more in harmony with the natural and Divine law of which after all is said and done, the Bible remains the true guide.

Well may ministers of the church wonder if they are trying to erect an edifice on shifting sand, as one remarked this week. We may discover that we have to get back to rock-bottom and take more heed of what the Divine will is. In that case we will have solved in part life's riddle, but the great "Mystery of Life" will remain to engross our thoughts.

An amusing incident this week concerns two storekeepers. One always wears the cheerful smile, like the sun shedding its effulgent rays on a spring morning. In came another storekeeper, with long face, and greeting the other with the hackneyed remark "Business is indeed quiet!" He of the smiling face replied that it was no wonder it was quiet if he went around looking like that; that such an attitude was sufficient to keep people from coming into the store. There is a lot of truth in this.

Now is the time for business men to work and think harder than ever. Business has to be sought out more diligently than ever. Even The Journal office sold more personal greeting cards this year than last, because a more intensive effort was made to get the business. A radio salesman tells of selling a surprising number of sets. He went after the business. A washing machine salesman some time ago planted electric machines in homes where they were needed, and not only made business for himself but earned the thanks of many a housewife who formerly had toiled the whole long day over a washbub. You cannot secure business if you suffer from mental laziness. Your attitude either attracts or repels.

The Journal received a special number issued by the Daily News of Prince Rupert, B.C., to commemorate the opening of a new electrical power plant. This city, the Pacific terminal of Canadian National Railways, anticipates a great future. At present its population is estimated at 7,000. With the building of a railway outlet from the Peace River district, which will eventually come, it will develop to a seaport of very much greater importance than at present. It is very refreshing to read of the optimism displayed by business interests in Prince Rupert.

To finish up this allotted space, the compositor instructed us to put as few letter E's and L's as possible. Therefore we carried out his instructions and this is the result. This cleans out the type case.

Officially closing the 1930 shipping season as far as inward bound Quebec terminus ships are concerned, Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia docked at Ancient Capital November 21, carrying back from the Imperial Conference Premier Ferguson of Ontario, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice; Hon. C. H. Caban, Secretary of State, and Hon. Thomas Chappin, Canadian delegate to the League of Nations.

Dressed poultry shows are being held in Regina on December 10th and in Saskatoon on December 11th for the purpose of arousing friendly competition in poultry production amongst the farmers of the province and further to advertise the poultry industry, according to W. Waldron, provincial markets commissioner. Mr. Waldron said that money prizes and special awards are to be given at these shows.

Little Julian Vebos, of Princeton, B.C., six years of age, has accepted foster parenthood of his 24-year-old sister, Marie, and his 13-month-old brother, Nat, across the Atlantic on Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm, while their father toils back to his wireless home in the mountains. The children were turned over to their grandmother at Chertbourg and will be taken to Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Headed by the Rt. Rev. Andre Lefebvre, Bishop of Ming Po, China, four priests and eight sisters, comprising the largest missionary party to leave Canada for the Far East this year, left recently from Vancouver S.S. Empress of Asia. They will join missions in Japan and Manchuria as well as China.

That the British and American people should assist the Kwantung and Manchukuo Government in the continuation of its difficult task of drawing China together, is the opinion of Col. Halsey Hall, D.S.O., British Customs Commissioner, late of Tientsin, interviewed recently while en route to London, England, by Canadian Pacific Railway. "The brains, military power and general ability are to be found in this Southern Government, and only when China is reorganized will business conditions become stabilized," he added.

It is just 25 years since the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were created. At that time the population of Alberta was 185,000. It is now about 650,000. Saskatchewan in 1905 had a population of about 195,000; now it is about 887,000. Total area of land under cultivation in Alberta, 25 years ago, was 660,000 acres, and in Saskatchewan, 2,000,000. Today the two provinces have 15,000,000 and 30,000,000 acres under crop, respectively.

Two big bull moose—one of them one of the finest this year to come out of New Brunswick forests—and six buck deer were the trophies of the hunting party headed by Bob Shawkey, late manager of New York Yankees. Harry Rice, Yankee outfielder; Barry Benough, former Yankee catcher, now with Milwaukee, and John Kracke, New York sportsman, were the other members of the party and all were successful in getting game.

The Southern Alberta honey crop this year will reach at least 750,000 pounds or almost double what it was a year ago, according to latest advices. The quality this year is said to be very high.

Colorful Yuletide pageantry, including the ceremony bringing in the bear's head and Yule log will be observed at the Empress Hotel, Victoria, Christmas Day and carol singers, a chef in Elizabethan costume attended by page boys and a court jester in cap and bells will accompany them through rounda and dining room to the place of honor where the Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce who is sponsoring the celebrations, will be seated.

Last week 970 letters came in one day to the radio office of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Melody Mike fans. They came from cities, towns and villages all over Canada and included many from the United States. It is an all-Canadian radio feature declared by radio station people to be with one exception, the most popular feature on the air today.

The Emperor of Japan is among the recent new customers for British Columbia pure-bred poultry. A consignment of selected birds which sold for $4500, from some of the best poultry farms in British Columbia, was recently shipped to the Imperial farms. Each of the hens in the consignment has a record of 300 eggs or better per year.

Entered in competition with several countries, an exhibit of game trophies from British Columbia recently won high honors at the famous Leipzig (Germany) Fair. It included giant moose, deer, walrus, sheep and goat heads and skins of fur-bearing animals.

Melody Mike Greet's You

Canada is sold on "Melody Mike."

Every Monday night when you tune in on your radio this is the genial old soul who delights you and whose popularity across the Dominion is attested by the fact that more than 15,000 fan letters of praise and congratulation have been received in a month by the Canadian Pacific Radio department under whose auspices "Melody Mike's Music Shop" feature has been sent out over an all-

Canadian C. P. R. network. This huge fan mail is doubling and at the end of November 970 letters came in on one day. The opinion of radio fans is borne out by the views of radio station authorities—most difficult of men to convince—who state that in their considered opinion this feature is with one exception the most popular radio offering on the air today. Remember too that artists presentation and radio outfit are all-Canadian.

Building Prosperity From Within

(By G. F. Bouchart)

Sincerely hoping that now you can see the cloven hoof sticking out from under the lion's skin, and that mail order houses and foreign owned chain stores have no love for us except for the dimes and dollars they can squeeze out of our towns and villages, let us forget about them, and try to build prosperity in our own communities.

Do you know that in the state of Alabama there are 3000 convicts who contribute more to the upbuilding of that state than all the foreign owned chain stores and mail order houses on the North American continent? Those convicts grow foodstuffs, build highways and manufacture necessities of life.

How many highways have these mail order houses and foreign owned chain stores ever constructed in your locality? How many public buildings were erected with taxes they paid? How many schools have they built? I tell you—none.

And if you spend a dollar with them it is transferred over night to a foreign territory. You will never see it again. How many debts in the local community were paid in the transaction? You paid for the goods you received—then it vanishes.

Yet, if that dollar had been spent at a home-owned store, the grocer must pay the butcher, the butcher must pay the baker, the baker must pay the hardware man, the hardware man must pay the doctor, the lawyer, and so on, so that in the end that one dollar spent in home-owned business has the potential debt paying possibilities of many dollars, and the local branch of your bank keeps its assets liquid, the book cleared of debt, the farmer advanced with money to tide him over the lean period of the year and community life wears the lofty look of conscious independence instead of financial slavery.

Through sentiment no longer prevails in business, it might be well to remember that none of these organizations have ever helped to tide you over the lean periods. That was left entirely to your local merchants. And they have always managed to do it somehow. Even though they did not have access to the resources of Wall Street capitalists.

There is only one way to build up prosperity for yourself and your community, and that is by trading at home when at all possible. Tickle those who tickle you. If you have any doubt about your grocer, butcher, baker, druggist, or hardware dealer being a home town patriot pass him up until he identifies himself.

Take an active part in the development of your community. Put your shoulder to the wheel and push forward. Work harmoniously. Don't make a tug-of-war contest of any issue that may present itself by half of you pulling one way and the other half in the opposite direction. That will never get you anywhere.

It is surprising to find the great number of towns in the west that are worse off today than they were fifteen or twenty years ago. Their present condition was brought about by the failure on the part of its so-called citizens to recognize the economical reaction of what they considered mere thrifty deeds. Buying away from home. They were so sold on the idea themselves that their children have inherited the same diseases.

We have only to look about us to see what mail order houses and foreign owned chain stores have brought upon us. We see how they are draining our country of money, leaving nothing to sustain it. We see monopolies working with rapacity, forcing mergers, concentrating business and wealth until small men have no opportunity to continue in callings in which they were pioneers. In the trail blazing days the hazard was too great for these Wall Street capitalists to risk their money.

But now everything looks rosy for them and we know they will not stop short of complete conquest of the country's commerce and finances. Monopoly is no longer a remote possibility. It is an imminent probability, if not actually upon us.

No one wants monopoly except the select few who fatten upon the misfortunes of the many. Monopoly is so repulsive that its proponents do not dare to come out and openly advocate it.

Let us be self-sustaining by building prosperity around our own communities. There is only way to do that—get back to time-proven practices—trade at home—keep our money circulating among us where we can handle it without paying tribute to absentee

"You shouldn't feel that way," he went on after a thoughtful moment. "There's nothing in the least crude about you; but sometimes, dear, you're not so—so friendly with folks as I am. Perhaps you're bashful, but I've sometimes thought you'd be misunderstood by strangers. Tonight, you know—really you weren't especially cordial, Gay."

"Was I—impolite?" Her voice trembled, and Nick said quickly: "Lord, no! But I couldn't help wishing you'd act more—well the way you act with me."

A queer little smile crossed Gay's face.

"The lady might be surprised, Nick if I held her hand, or anything like that."

She expected a laugh, but he seemed not to have heard. He sat quite still, watching the shadows cast by the street light across the way. An automobile passed by, going too rapidly, but he took no notice. Two lovers strolled along the sidewalk, trailing the night to hide their encircling arms, and, un-Nick-like, Nick made no comment. He seemed suddenly far away, and Gay moved close again to reach her cheek against his arm.

"It's a ripping night," said Nick. He drew a deep breath—almost a sigh. "I'd like to start right now and walk till sunrise."

Gay's cheek pressed closer.

"I—sometimes feel that way, too, Nick; and then I wonder if ever we'll do such things again. I can't of course; but there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't, you dear vagabond."

Nick smiled.

"The kids are a pretty substantial reason, seems to me, not to mention the bank! A fine day's work I'd do tomorrow if I tramped all night. He arose reluctantly. "Come, dear, we must go up to bed. You're tired. Who was it told us that two babies were no more work than one?"

"Wherever it was—she was a cheerful liar. I—Hark!" He sat down suddenly and laid a detaining hand upon her arm. "There's Mrs. Halliday at the piano. She sings like a bird. Let's listen."

It was next day that Mary Maxwell made her call. She gave her report that evening, when she and John sat contentedly rocking on their comfortable screened porch.

"It was hot as summer at four o'clock, Johnny," she began, "so I wore my lilac voile, and carried a sunshade, the fluffiest and the best for Judy's graduation. I looked real 'nifty,' as Tom, Jr. would say, and up-to-date. I feel sure there was nothing in my appearance for Mrs. Halliday to criticize."

"I'd like to see her try!" John's tone was belligerent, and Mary laughed.

"I got my first shock when the door was opened," she continued. "Who do you suppose opened it?"

"St. Peter?" suggested her husband hopefully, but Mary was much too interested in her subject to notice this frivolous rejoinder.

"Julie Nipps! She's there permanently, and Mrs. Halliday's got her all rigged up in a cap and apron. I should have known that!"

"If you refer to Julie, and she wore only a cap and apron," began the listener, when his wife cut in: "John"

Maxwell, don't try to be funny, or interrupt. It was the black dress I meant—noah, my dear—long-sleeved—with cuffs, and the thermometer at eighty! I like a well-dressed maid as much as anyone, but I've never yet forgotten that they're flesh and blood like the rest of us; and black, in summer, and long sleeves—"

"It's only May, my dear."

"Well, May in Bakersville might be August anywhere else. Anyway, I wanted to scream because Julie looked so funny. She's bobbed her hair, and—"

"Je-hoshaphat!" exclaimed John Maxwell. "She must look—"

"She does. I told you I wanted to scream. But I didn't. I said, with really remarkable self-control: 'Good afternoon, Julie: Is your mistress at home?'"

"You mean Miss Halliday?" asked Julie. "I heard her say last night that she did hope no more stupid Bakersvillers would call; but there ain't no such stupid about you, Miss Maxwell, so I guess she'll see you. You wait, and I'll go find out."

"Oh, Lordy," chuckled John Maxwell, rocking with mirth. "Oh, Lordy! if that isn't Julie to the life! Well, my dear, were you eligible?"

"Evidently I was, Julie left me at the door, but I went into the living-room myself, to save the girl a scolding. Oh, Johnny! you should see that room! Whatever else the woman is, she knows how to arrange a house. White the paint—soft grey walls—a few fine water color pictures—bright things—comfortable chairs—a beautiful piano at the north end—soft-shaded lamps—"

"Look here," interrupted John Maxwell suddenly, "are you making an inventory for the insurance man?"

"I could," answered his wife decidedly. "I saw everything there. I had plenty of time. I waited twenty minutes. The draperies—"

"Cut out the draperies, my dear, and come to the woman. It's she who interests me."

"Well, my dear John, most men would have found her interesting. She wore a blue Japanese silk that matched her eyes so perfectly that you could see nothing else. Her hair—"

"It's a ripping night," said Nick. He drew a deep breath—almost a sigh. "I'd like to start right now and walk till sunrise."

Gay's cheek pressed closer.

"I—sometimes feel that way, too, Nick; and then I wonder if ever we'll do such things again. I can't of course; but there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't, you dear vagabond."

DON'T SUFFER WITH DANGEROUS INDIGESTION

Do you suffer after meals with a belching, from sour and acid stomach? Many believe they have heart trouble and tremble with fear, expecting any minute to drop dead. This condition can be prevented, likewise relieved.

Take Carter's Little Liver Pills after meals and neutralize the gases. Sweeten the stomach and acid with mirth. Give the gas and encourage digestion. The stomach, liver and bowels will be cleansed of poison, poisons and dangerous indigestion disappears and the system enjoys a tonic effect. Send for a sample of a 25c pkg. of Carter's Little Liver Pills.

and what made you sorry for Mr. Halliday?"

"Well, I can hardly explain it; but once he was introduced she seemed to ignore him; though in justice to her I'll admit that he didn't seem to care, and he kept looking at her in a perfectly mad way, as much as to say, 'What new job is this, I should like to know!'" He did start to leave.

He did start to leave. He did start to leave. He did start to leave.

"Did she ask Julie to pour tea?" queried John Maxwell innocently.

"His wife threw him a, withering glance. Then she shook with mirth. 'It was a joke on me, John, but for just a second I thought it was a baby carriage! I didn't think they had children, but—'"

"They haven't. Nick tells me that children would interfere with their careers."

Exploring With Motor Car

Detour Is Sometimes Amusing When Strange Roads Beckon

The motorist's humor merrily along a new cement road. There are no cracks no washboard ridges; there is almost the sensation of flight. On each side garish solicitations invite you to buy things varied and sundry. Small roadside merchants urge you to tarry.

Of a sudden, on rounding a long curve, there comes into view a little road that noses into the great cement thoroughfare like a nondescript little dog into pedigreed kennels.

A stone wall struggles along its sides and trees form a canopy over its roughened tread. Something whispers and you give the wheel a sudden turn. The car bumps along a road of more sedate pace. The turns and twists up a hill, down a valley beside a chuckling brook. Around a sharp bend appears a weather-beaten old house topped by a great square chimney, smoke billowed by a great rambling barn, whose doors yawning rakishly on worn hinges. Chickens scurry out of your way and cows look solemnly on from the bars.

You catch the twinkling of tanned legs as a barefooted boy runs out goggle-eyed to see you pass. The appearance of an automobile is something of an event on this road.

Like old days. You smile. A word comes from the back seat. "John, where in the world are you going?" You don't know, but you don't say so.

A branch road beckons from the right narrower, more rocky than the first. A mile farther along there is another. You make turns willy nilly. No signs. Where will you end up?

Miles pile up; also dust on the glossy surface of the car. The back seat grows increasingly articulate. But it is your party. You are having a glorious time.

You coast down a long tortuous hill till a warning bell jams your foot on the brake. Lines of cars flash by like an old-time motion picture and a little sadly you rejoin the procession and roll along smoothly with silence at the rear, a smile on your face and memories in your heart. You have been an explorer for an hour.

Tracing Migratory Birds

Much valuable information concerning Canada's birds is being secured through the co-operation of the National Parks of Canada, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, with the United States Biological Survey. Year in, year out, migrations of birds are traced and recorded by means of placing dead bands on the legs of the birds. Nearly all the field work in connection with this is done by voluntary co-operators.

Those Good Old Days

Bringing up children has certainly become more complex with the march of civilization and it wasn't so many years ago that practically the only worry a mother had was to keep the children away from the horses' heels.

Hull, England, with a population of 800,000, is just substituting electricity for gas for street lighting.

Death Of Capt. Sverdrup

Famous Norwegian Arctic Explorer Dies At His Home In Norway

Canada had a very particular interest in Captain Otto Sverdrup, the famous Norwegian explorer who died at Oslo, Norway. It was quite recently that the Dominion Government announced the payment of $67,000 to Captain Sverdrup in recognition of services which he performed in the realm of scientific research. As his activities were largely in the northern islands of the Canadian archipelago, it was recognized that his discoveries and studies had been of peculiar benefit to Canada. The sum was also paid the Norwegian explorer as a consideration for the delivery to the Dominion of all original maps, records, diaries and other materials in his possession.

On behalf of the government of Canada, Sir George Peary, acting prime minister, has cabled to the British minister at Oslo, Norway, asking that he convey to the Norwegian Government Canada's regret in the death of Commander Sverdrup. In his cable, Sir George refers to Commander Sverdrup's "splendid services to Arctic exploration," which, he says, have long been recognized in Canada.

Varieties Are Numerous

Japanese Glad To Secure Chrysanthemum Grown In Canada

The flower of gold, or the golden flower, for this is the literal meaning of the word chrysanthemum, may have been a term appropriate enough when it was first cultivated in the orient, but now its application is dubious. Horticulturists, and particularly those in the west, have developed so many shades and varieties that they almost range across the spectrum. When the chrysanthemum was first introduced into Canada we do not know, but it is less than 200 years since the first blooms of this plant were admired as a curiosity in Kew gardens, London, England. Probably the chrysanthemum came to Canada about the time that it reached the United States, in 1861, then in the throes of the civil war. But since that date the varieties developed on this continent have been so diverse and so numerous that the Japanese have been delighted to secure them. They have become so accustomed to chrysanthemums that it is not easy to realize that the first show among the English-speaking peoples was staged in Norwich only 101 years ago.

Contrary To Drugs Act

Oysters Contain More Arsenic Than Can Be Sold In Foodstuffs

No poison has taken a greater hold upon public attention than arsenic, yet few realize that this most deadly drug is also one of the vital necessities of life. Many marine animals contain quantities of arsenic, and some surprising facts bearing on this fact have lately come to light. Dr. Orton, at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Plymouth, has ascertained that oysters contain more arsenic than can be sold in foodstuffs, and that various other molluscs and crustaceans similarly contravene the Food and Drugs Act.

Wisdom Of St. Swithin

Idea Of Helping Poor People Could Be Used Today

Among the achievements of St. Swithin was the creation of a kind of poor law to meet the needs of his time. This was an ordinance that every ten families should be responsible for keeping one poor person. There can be little doubt that such "union" of ten families saw to it that work was found as quickly as possible for their ward, and that he was taken off this eight century dole at the earliest possible moment. Public opinion in every village in those days was less diluted with tenderness for the wilfully idle than it is today.

Delicately fragrant. It enhances the most finished appearances. Makes the skin rosy-lashed in texture. Truly peerless toilet requisite for every discerning woman.

Musk-Oxen In Northern Canada

Between Nine and Ten Thousand Animals In The North

Between 9,000 10,000 musk-oxen roam the northern islands and mainland of Canada, according to the estimate of W. H. B. Hoare, of the Department of the Interior, whose report of his examination of the Thelon game sanctuary east of Great Slave Lake has just been issued by the Northwest Territories and Yukon Branch. Mr. Hoare spent two years in the north, 1923 and 1924.

Canada and Greenland are the only countries in the world where at present the musk-ox is to be found in its natural state. It equals in size one of the small breeds of Welsh and Scotch cattle and in appearance resembles a small buffalo.

There are 250 of the animals in the Thelon game sanctuary, while Mr. Hoare believes the greatest herd on Melville Island, 4,000 herd roam today. He estimates about 1,000 musk-oxen in North and East Greenland.

R. M. Anderson, chief of the biological division of the National Museum in an appendix to the report, gives a higher estimate, stating Canadian herds total 12,900 animals and Greenland 1,500.

Road Gravelled To Park

Highway From Prince Albert To National Park Is Now Completed

The highway from Prince Albert to the Prince Albert National Park is now an all gravelled, all weather road, while the graveling from Saskatoon to Prince Albert is rapidly approaching completion. This was the statement made at the quarterly meeting of the Prince Albert Board of Trade, when great satisfaction was expressed at this accomplishment, which, it is anticipated, will be of great value to this city.

P. W. Mahon, chairman of the transportation committee, commented at length on the benefits accruing to Prince Albert through the highway, and stated that while it was an expensive undertaking yet he believed it was a forward step.

Satisfaction at the possibility of developing a power unit at the Big Bend on the Saskatchewan River was also expressed. Hydro power from this source within the next few years in quantities sufficient to supply the province was visualized.

Nation-Wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion in which the merits of Thomas' Eclitric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation of the skin. Its healing powers is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Flaky Pie Crust

The secret of making good pie crust is: "Use Pure Flour—and keep the dough dry!" Try this recipe—for 2 shells:

1 cup Pure Flour 1 egg and 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup cold water.

METHOD: Mix the flour and salt, cutting in the shortening with the culture in the form of small, gradually adding equal quantity of water but not a drop more. The less water, if you can, and the pie crust will be even flakier.

Turn out on board very lightly greased with Pure Flour, roll about 1/4 inch thick. Spread balance of shortening over dough, fold over three times and roll again to required thickness. Bake in hot oven (375°).

Little Helms For This Week

"He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."—2 Corinthians ix. 6.

All life is seed sown in Time's yielding furrow.

With slow sprout and shoot, In the revolving world's untamed morrow

Will blossom and bear fruit. —Mathilde Blind.

When I sow my good treasure broadcast as Christ did, when I give myself with what I am giving them, as the earth never fails of her harvest, but in the old world or the new will surely bring us our daily bread, so the soul can never fail of her divine returns. Here or yonder, in the full time come the full blessing; the flower flashing out glory, the fields laughing with plenty.

Norway Secures Island

Claim To Island Off Greenland Coast Is Recognized By Great Britain

It is officially announced that Great Britain has recognized the Norwegian claim to the Island of Jan Mayen, a desolate land lying between Greenland and North Norway in the Arctic sea. Norway's claim to sovereignty was put forward in a royal decree dated last May 8.

In general it is accepted that the island was discovered by Henry Hudson, British navigator, in 1607.

The island is 34 miles long and nine miles wide at its greatest breadth.

A New Type Of Glider

A glider that appears to be made of seven giant ink sausages is being constructed at Washington. In place of conventional framework there are large rubber tubes, made rigid by inflation with air. Three tubes make up the body of each side of the single wing while another sticks behind to support the tail surfaces. The craft was designed by Taylor McDaniel, and will weigh 125 pounds.

Daughter Is Stronger Now

"My daughter Catherine is fifteen years old. She was very irregular, often sick at her stomach, and had to stay in bed two or three days at a time. One of your booklets was sent to us by mail so I got her a bottle of Vegetable Compound. Catherine has been taking it regularly and she is gaining in weight and every day. I told the neighbors and four other girls are taking it with good results."—Mrs. Charles Jenkinson, Box 14, Toronto, Ontario.

Was Very Prominent in British Columbia

Late A. C. Flumerfelt Took Active Part in Industrial Affairs in West

Alfred C. Flumerfelt, pioneer capitalist of the province, who died at his home in Victoria, had been for many years prominently identified with the business and public life of British Columbia. He came to the province first in 1886 as branch manager of Ames, Holden & Co., to which concern he had sold a boot and shoe business which he established in Cobourg, Ont., in 1875, and which he had moved to Winnipeg in 1879.

Soon after his arrival in Victoria in 1886, the late Mr. Flumerfelt became interested in mining developments and, up to his death, although his other interests became legion, he was still active in the mining world. As well as being a director of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., when he died, he was once the president of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co. In addition to mining he became a power in many other lines of industry and business. He was either president or director of many of the most successful business and financial enterprises in Western Canada.

The late Mr. Flumerfelt, despite his diverse business interests, found time to take a hand in public affairs and for 10 years from 1893 to 1903 was a member of the city council of Victoria. During the same decade, he was president of the Victoria Board of Trade. He was a life governor of the Vancouver and Winnipeg General Hospitals and for several years was a director of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Victoria. He was also active in educational affairs. He was also a captain in the Garrison Artillery. The late Mr. Flumerfelt is survived by a widow and two daughters.

The favorite recreation of the late Mr. Flumerfelt was golf. He was a prominent Conservative in politics and in religious denomination an Anglican.

British Columbia loses one of her best known, most prominent, and successful citizens in the death of Mr. Flumerfelt.

Mr. Whiteside, general manager of International Coal & Coke Co. Ltd., who attended the funeral in Victoria, states that telegrams of sympathy were received from all parts of Canada, testifying to the wide esteem in which the late president of the company was held.

United Church Notes

Rev. A. E. Larke asks The Journal to publish the following:

We want you to feel welcome at our bright inspirational services. A junior choir leads the singing at the morning service and is doing good work. Of especial interest is the evening service. As much good is accomplished through the gospel of good music as through the preaching of a sermon. A large senior choir is rendering faithful service, and in the near future we are going to have a men's and a mixed voice quartette. Beginning next Sunday W. G. Harris and possibly some of his pupils will assist. Undoubtedly the using of musical talent is the finest recognition of what we owe to God for the natural gifts we possess.

BEER

A HEALTHFUL FOOD

Thousands of the working classes, while engaged in hard, physical labor, find in beer, a cheap, healthful food, which, besides its nourishing effect, possesses invigorating and strength-restoring qualities.

Beer, therefore, must be considered as a beverage conducive to health in the direction of moderation and true temperance.
